MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMEN

Dear fellow rock engineer

2019 will be a special year for the ISRM South America National Groups when the region welcomes the ISRM family for its 14th Congress. Brazil, Argentina and Paraguay will be the host countries for the event that is to be held in Foz do Iguassu, city that marks the common border amongst these countries. It is an honor to organize such a venue but it is also a great responsibility to maintain the tradition of memorable ISRM congresses.

The central theme of the Congress is Rock Mechanics for Natural Resources and Infrastructure Development, a theme much relevant and needed for the current stage of most of the countries. All ISRM regions are invited to share their experience in the theme. The technical programme is being established by an International Scientific Committee in order to attract different categories of geotechnical professionals as academics, consultants, contractors, public companies and should incorporate issues of ISRM Technical Commissions.

On behalf of the Brazilian Rock Mechanics Committee, Argentinian Society of Geotechnical Engineering and Paraguayan Society of Geotechnics it is a great pleasure to announce the preparation for the 2019 ISRM International Congress and also to invite you to start getting ready to come and join us in Foz do Iguassu.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY FOR ROCK MECHANICS

The International Society for Rock Mechanics was founded in Salzburg in 1962 and its foundation is mainly owed to Prof. Leopold Müller, who acted as President of the Society till September 1966. The ISRM is a non-profit scientific association supported by the fees of the members and grants that do not impair its free action. In 2016 the Society has 8,000 members and 60 National Groups. The field of Rock Mechanics is taken to include all studies relative to the physical and mechanical behavior of rocks and rock masses and the applications of this knowledge for the better understanding of geological processes and in the fields of Engineering.

IGUASSU FALLS

For the first time, the ISRM congress will be held in South America. We invite you to attend the most important meeting of the Rock Mechanics and know the natural beauties of Brazil in 2019!

One of the most important attractions and one of the world's seven natural wonders, the Iguassu Falls are located along the section of the Iguassu River that forms the border between Brazil and Argentina. The falls stretch for 18 km before the Iguassu flows into the Paraná River. At that point, a drop in the earth's surface creates waterfalls some 65 meters high, and 2,780 meters wide, most of which (1,900 meters) occupies Argentine territory. Depending on the flow of the river, the number of falls varies from 150 to 300 with heights of 40 to 82 meters. The Iguassu Falls discharge at a rate of around 1.5 million litres of water per second during normal periods.

Just 38 km away from the falls, is one of the seven wonders of engineering, the Itaipu Binacional Hydroelectric Plant. Responsible for almost 20% of Brazil's electricity consumption and more than 90% of Paraguay's, Itaipu Binacional is gigantic in every sense of the word, comprising a dam 7,919 meters in length and 196 meters high, the equivalent of a 65-storey building. It offers day and night tours, being possible to experience the perfect harmony between nature and manmade constructions.
